MAKES APPEAL FOR HARMONY

James E. Watson in District Keynote Speech at Cambridge City, Urges Factionalism be Tabored.

HIS POPULARITY NOT ON WANE

Former Congressman Cheered and Applauded—Declared Democratic House Incompetent.

James E. Watson sounded the keynote for Sixth district Republicans in his brief speech before the convention in Cambridge City yesterday afternoon. He vehemently urged a militant Republicanism, the burying of the hatchet, the tabooing of all factionalism and dissension and the united effort of the rank and file of the party for the success of the candidates which are chosen. He praised President Taft and his administration and devoted some time to the tariff question; the method used by the Republicans in handling the all important question and the botched-up job which the Democratic house of representatives have made of it. He alluded to Finly Gray's part in Congress several times during his talk.

That James E. Watson's popularity is not on the wane by any means was evidenced by the way his appearance on the floor of the convention was heralded. His figure in the doorway of the convention hall was the signal for applause. When he was suggested for permanent chairman wild cheers for "Watson, Watson" went up and the applause was deafening. After he had taken a seat on the platform many of his admirers continued to shout his name and there were occasional outbursts of applause. He was applauded often during his speech and he was interrupted at times by the crying of his name, the stamping of feet and other noises which are common in a political convention.

"I regard this convention as one of tremendous importance," said Mr. Watson in the beginning after the business of the convention had been transacted shortly. "We are not here to nominate candidates—for there will be a convention in the future for that purpose—but to organize for the coming campaign which is to be an all important one. I am a Republican and I consider the interests of my party first. True enough there have been some differences of opinion and sentiment but what more could be expected in a party which has had unprecedented success as has the Republican party? It is not unnatural that there should be some dissension in its ranks.

"But the time has come when the Republican party should redeem the State and congress from the thralldom of Democracy. The time is here to forget the dissensions and petty differences and weld ourselves into a mighty and efficient party. I am not a candidate nor do I expect to be, but I want some one to represent the Sixth district in congress who will really represent it."

The former congressman begged the patience of his audience while he pointed out some of the fallacies of the Democratic party. He said Champ Clark said one of the issues with which the Democratic party would go before the people would be the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. Mr. Watson pointed out such a law had been passed by congress three times while he was a member and that it died in the senate each time, which proved that it was not a new idea conceived in the Democratic party.

Mr. Watson said another Democratic issue of the last campaign was the publicity of campaign funds. The last Republican congress passed such a law making it mandatory to publish campaign expenses after each election, he said, and the Democratic house passed a similar law providing the expenses be published before the election. He said Joe Cannon introduced an amendment providing the law apply to primaries, and a terrible wail went up from the Democrats. The amendment was defeated in the house but tacked on in the senate and the house had to pass it because of the great preponderance of public sentiment in its favor. Mr. Watson said the Democrats objected to the law applying to primaries because it would interfere with the work of that party in the southern States.

The local statesman recalled there had been some discord in the Republican party over the tariff, and he added that no political party is better fitted to deal with this question than the Republican party because it has made the United States what it is today by its doctrines of protection.

Mr. Watson pointed out the Democratic house passed the farmers' free list to help the laborers, as the party leaders said, and for the first time in the history of party wrote class legislation. He pointed out the free list put all foreign products in direct competition with the products of the Indiana farmers as well as of all other tillers of the soil in the United States. Mr. Watson pointed out the Democrats left sweetened biscuits off the free list which he could not understand. He said the free list was not for tariff for revenue only, was not a protective policy, but was just a plain mugwump. He declared that he heartily believed Taft did right in vetoing it.

"Our friend, Finly Gray," continued the former congressman, "who misrepresents us in congress, voted for this. They speak of his policies and his opinions, but we would like to hear them if he can give utterance to them."

Former Representative Watson discussed the wool bill, the famous schedule K, which has been harped on so much. The Democrats are both for and against free wool and we talk of discord in the Republican party, he said. He pointed out free wool has been the campaign cry of the Democratic party for years and yet a Democratic house of representatives did not put wool on the free list when it had opportunity.

He recalled the fallacy of the Democratic argument. He said the house intended to put wool on the free list but it was soon found a majority for such a measure could not be had among the Democrats. Mr. Watson said Oscar Underwood, Democratic

WERE LOCAL PHYSICIANS

Those Two Who Ran Off With Dr.
Humes' Automobile.

Those two out-of-town physicians who acted like bad boys when they got in a big town and who were mentioned in connection with the story in the Indianapolis Star yesterday concerning the theft of the auto belonging to Dr. Dolph Humes, formerly of this city, were none other than Dr. W. S. Coleman and Lowell M. Green. They had been the guests of Dr. Humes at dinner and they exhibited their lack of appreciation for his cordiality by stealing his electric runabout when he stopped to talk to a friend. Dr. Humes promises to "even up."

ROADS TO COST COUNTY $124,815

Lowest Bidders Awarded Contracts
by Commissioners Except on E. B. Lowden Road.

ONE FIRM GOT THREE JOBS.

All Eight Pikes Must be Completed Within One Year—Superintendents Were Appointed.

The county commissioners awarded the contracts Wednesday afternoon for the eight roads. The contracts call for an expenditure of $124,815. In all but one the contract was given to the lowest bidder. This exception was the E. B. Lowden road. The lowest bid was $39,098, made by Nicholson & Pearce. These contractors would not agree to have the road finished within one year and the job was awarded to Gordon & Sullivan, with a bid of $39,925, or a difference of $827.

The contracts call for the completion of all eight roads within one year. Nicholson & Pearce have a large road contract in Jay county and would not agree to finish the Lowden road within this time so the commissioners gave the contract to the next lowest bidder. The firm of Thurston & Steele was the successful bidder on three roads, getting the John Jordan, Isaac Webb and W. A. Mull roads. The local firm of Wilk & Co. was underbid in every instance.

The successful bidders were as follows: John Jordan road, Thurston & Steele, $8,940; William Leisure road, J. A. Harding & Co., $15,569; J. M. Amos road, J. B. Redsouer, $15,934; Isaac Webb road, Thurston & Steele, $4,990; Earl Beaver road, W. A. Stevens, $8,350; Robert Nixon road, Nicholson & Pearce, $16,667; W. A. Mull road, Nicholson & Steele, $14,440; E. B. Lowden road, Gordon & Sullivan, $39,925.

PALACE THEATER TO HAVE NEW HOME

Amusement House Will be Changed
After March First, When Lease Expires.

OTHER MOVES CONTEMPLATED

The Palace will be in a new location by the first of April, according to an announcement of the management today. The owners do not know just where the future home of the Palace will be. This will be announced later. The Palace lease will expire March first, and the theater will likely be closed for a month while the new home is being embellished by improvements. Other moves are contemplated, it is said, by Main Street business men.

The room now occupied by the Palace theater has been rented by T. W. Becker and he will move his haberdashery and cigar store from the J. B. Doll room in Second street to the new location some time after the first of March.

The Christian population of India now numbers nearly four million.

BOOM UNTAPPED AND VOTES TAKEN

Shelby and Rush County Crowds
Amuse Themselves While Waiting For Belated Train.

ACCIDENT NEAR CAMBRIDGE

Car Wheel Bursts and Convention Delegation Make Sport at Expense of Political Aspirants.

Political booms were sprung, straw votes were taken—since that appears to be the most popular pastime of the period—fun was had at the expense of aspirants to office and mirth reigned supreme on the belated southbound Pennsylvania train which carried the Sixth district Republicans back to Rushville and Shelbyville last evening from the convention at Cambridge City.

A wheel on the passenger coach bursted three miles north of Cambridge City yesterday afternoon and the crowd of fifty or sixty men waited in the box-car station at Cambridge City for two hours and a half while they could see the smoke of the broken-down train up the track. It was necessary to send back to Richmond for another coach which caused the train to arrive here last night two and a half hours behind the schedule.

The first political boom to be sprung by the Shelby and Rush county Republicans while they waited in the station and sought about for something to pass the time away was that of W. R. Jinnett of Manilla for State representative from Rush county. There has been some comment on the alleged boom and it has been smoldering along for some time. It never took on tangible shape until yesterday.

It is understood that Mr. Jinnett is not turning deaf ears to the proposal and that he looks upon the talk of his candidacy with favor. There is conceded to be little doubt among Republicans of the county that the Manilla man would make a very good candidate, and it is generally believed he will be nominated if he chooses to make the race for the nomination.

Straw votes were taken for Sixth district congressman and for president. Watson received the vote of every man on the car with one exception, and Taft was given thirty votes and Roosevelt ten.

One man voted against Watson for congress. He was the conductor, and his choice was Tom Mull of Manilla. Charlie Campbell, who polled both the smoker and the regular passenger compartment, announced that an amicable agreement had been reached and the train was solid for Watson, because Tom Mull was satisfied to make it unanimous for the former congressman, because, as Mr. Campbell said, he had a candidate in the person of W. R. Jinnett for the State legislature. Sixty voted for Watson.

Clate Bebert took the poll of the

JAMES R. DEARINGER DEAD

Passed Away This Morning at His Home in Homer.

James R. Dearing, 74 years old, died this morning about eleven o'clock at his home in Homer after an illness with a complication of diseases. Last evening Mr. Dearing became worse and the end was expected. He is survived by four sons, Pink of this city, Marshall, Rollie and Newton, and one daughter. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

back car only and found thirty favorable to Taft and ten to Roosevelt. There were two women on the car and they, when asked in regard to their sentiment, upheld femininity by announcing proudly that their candidate for president had not yet entered the race. They were willing, however, to bestow a complimentary vote on Watson for congress, for which the former congressman was duly thankful, and he paid his compliments.

The sentiment of the crowd at the convention yesterday was that James E. Watson should be a candidate for congress regardless of his own sentiment in that regard. It was reported that Henry and Shelby counties will send delegates to the congressional convention which will attempt to stampede the convention for Watson, and which will hold out to the last for the local statesman.

DEATH COMES TO GEORGE OFFUTT

Well Known Resident of Arlington
Succumbs After Long Illness
With Uremic Poisoning.

BURIAL SATURDAY AFTERNOON

George Offutt, 58 years old, a well known resident of Arlington, died this morning at two o'clock at his home there after a long illness. Mr. Offutt was first taken ill about six years ago, when he suffered a stroke of paralysis. The immediate cause of his death was uremic poisoning.

Besides a widow he is survived by six children, Jerry of Kansas City, Mo., Sabert, Ollie and Charles of Arlington, and Mrs. Fred Winship of Chicago, and Mrs. John Nelson of this county. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Megee.

The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the late residence. Burial will take place in the Arlington East Hill cemetery.

CRAMPY MULE IS RESPONSIBLE

John Jackman Asks $100 Damages From James Brown Because of Animal's Affliction.

SAYS IT'S NOT AS WARRANTED

A crampy mule with a jerky gait such as might cause it to be termed "string haltered" is responsible for a suit filed in circuit court today. John Jackman alleges he bought a team of mules from James Brown last March and that they were not as they were represented to be. He says one of them developed not to be as good as warranted and the team was ruined. Since they sold best as a team, they being perfectly matched, and since Jackman had to break the team in order to sell, according to the allegations of the complaint, the plaintiff wants one hundred dollars damages from Brown. Jackman declares no one would buy the team when one of them was a jerky mule and he could not realize as much off them as he paid.

SOME SPECIALS TO BE UNCORKED

The Rev. Perry E. Powell, Ph. D. of Boy Scouts Movement and Holy Grail to Speak.

ITS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE ONLY

At Same Time Sunday Night Frank Clark of Denver Will Speak to Parents.

Some enthusiasm is to be untapped next Sunday night in the Protestant churches of Rushville. There are to be two meetings. And they are both to be union meetings. How's that? Yes, union meetings but they are for two different classes of people. They are to be for men and for women? No, another guess coming.

A union meeting for parents will be held at the Main Street Christian church at seven-thirty o'clock and at the same hour a union meeting will be pulled off at the First Presbyterian church. The latter will be for young people, principally for boys and girls. Of course, newlyweds will not be excluded but they have a perfect right to attend the meeting for parents if they so desire. They are about the only division of human society which may do as it pleases. There is a sharp line between the remainder of the human race in Rushville. One must be a parent or a youngster. That is to say, of course, those who ought to be parents will be admitted to the Christian church.

But listen to what is to be uncorked! The Rev. Perry Edward Powell, Ph. D., supreme Merlin of the Knights of the Holy Grail and member of the national counsel of the Boy Scouts of America, will address the boys and girls and young people at the Presbyterian church. Frank H. Clark of Denver, Colorado, will speak to parents at the Christian church.

The mere mention of the name, Perry Powell, should be enough, it is pointed out by ministers, to attract all of the young people of Rushville. A thoroughly enjoyable talk, filled with sound advice and instruction is in store for the young people of Rushville. His connection with the Boy Scout of America, the greatest organization of boys in the United States, will insure him a large attendance.

Frank Clark is the man who addressed the men of Rushville at the Men and Religion Forward Movement noonday luncheon at the Windsor hotel a few weeks ago. His sparkling wit and personality will be remembered by all who heard him. He will speak to the parents of Rushville on Sunday night on the boy question from a parental standpoint. It is advised by men who have heard him that it would be a great mistake not to hear this man.

REPORT SPLENDID TIME

Local Knights Return From Richmond Inspection Highly Pleased.

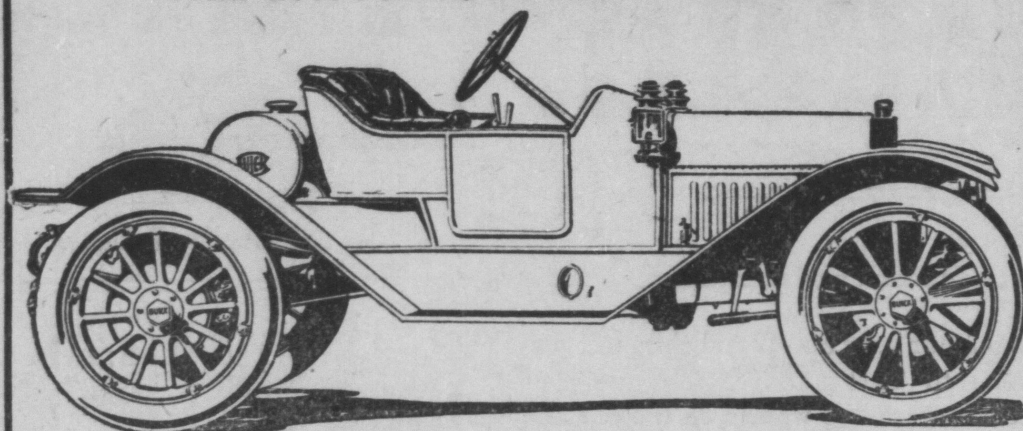

Members of Ivy Co. No. 35, Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, have returned from Richmond and reported a splendid time at the installation of officers and inspection of the Richmond lodge. The company was inspected by G. P. Hunt, captain of the local company. Col. Macgades of Indianapolis and a number of the New Castle company were there. A delicious dinner was served to the guests after the work.

H. C. Pitts, who has been suffering with enlargement of the heart and Bright's disease, is convalescing nicely, and is able to be up all the time.

Several of our people saw the fire which destroyed the home of Lon Moore, at Ray's Crossing Monday night. The fire originated in a very peculiar manner. Mr. Moore had been troubled with water that had found its way into his gas line near his house and took the lantern and went out and removed a plug in the pipe within a few inches of the house. As soon as this was done the gas rushed out at the opening and ignited from the anten and began to blaze up the wall of the building. There being no way to shut off the gas at the house, Mr. Moore was obliged to run to a gas well a few rods away before it could be turned off, but before this could be done the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish it. By the assistance of neighbors a good portion of the household effects were saved.

PAVING THE WAY FOR MANCHU ABDICATION

Yuan Filling Capital With Chinese Troops.

Peking, Feb. 1.—Interpreted as meaning that he is determined to preserve order when the expected abdication edict is issued, Premier Yuan Shih Kai is continuing to bring Chinese troops into the city, and there are now 11,000 of them in the capital. The general belief is that the publication of this edict would cause the Manchus to rebel, and that they might attempt a massacre of the Chinese here. They have threatened right along to prevent the imperial clan from leaving if an abdication edict was published, and this is regarded as one of the reasons why the edict has not been issued. With the advent of a large number of Chinese troops it is thought that Yuan will be able to keep everything well in hand and that the Manchus emperor and princes will be able to get away in safety.

IS EXCLUDED IN CIVIL WAR

Red Cross Society Has No Right and Pathetic Illegal Use is Exemplified in China.

OMITTED IN GENEVA TREATY
This Will be One of Important Discussions at Ninth International Conference.

When the farmers of the Treaty of Geneva, which provides for the protection of agents of the Red Cross in war, had completed their task they had omitted all mention of the important question which has recently been a cause of uncertainty and some embarrassment. This question relates to the function of the Red Cross in civil war.

The treaty, in fact, does not provide any method by which the Red

RAW FROM SCRATCHING

Tortured Skin Soon Healed by Soothing Application.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

When tortured by the awful burning and itching of eczema, both children and older people often scratch until the skin is raw and bleeding.

This spreads the disease and makes the suffering ten times worse. The first thing to do is to stop the terrible itching by a soothing application of our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve, which also penetrates the skin to the very roots of the disease and destroys the germs.

In all forms of eczema and all other crusted or scaly humors and eruptions Saxon Salve has given astonishingly good results. The great improvement that it makes in the first few days shows plainly that you can place full trust in its curative power.

We have so much confidence in it that we give back your money if you are not satisfied with Saxon Salve.

ville, Ind.

An Epidemic of Coughing

Is sweeping over the town. Old and young alike are affected, and the strain is particularly hard on little children and on elderly people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a quick, safe and reliable cure for all coughs and colds. Contains no opiate.
F. B. Johnson & Co.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweet-ening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.— plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Cross may help to ameliorate the horrors of civil war. When two governments are at war, with each other, if both are signatories to the treaty, both are bound to protect the agents of the Red Cross and respect the Red Cross flag. If only one of the warring governments has signed the treaty, neither is required to respect the Red Cross flag or agents.
In such a case, the two countries by special agreement may bind themselves to observe the rules of the treaty and thus avail themselves of the humane administrations of the Red Cross.

In the case of civil war on revolutionary movements, however, the revolutionary movements, however the revolutionaries are not only not signers of the treaty of Geneva, but as they have no recognized governmental status, they are held to be incapable of entering into a responsible agreement concerning the Red Cross with the government which they are trying to overthrow. Thus no way is left open by which the Red Cross may legally and safely give its kindly services in time of civil war.

During the progress of the revolution in Mexico, the American Red Cross offered its services to the Mexican government, but its offer could not be accepted. As a result, the American Red Cross confined its activities to the boundary line between the United States and Mexico, caring for sick and wounded soldiers and destitute refugees who were brought across the border or taking the risk of venturing over line, without official protection, when the demands of humanity were imperative,
as was the case at Juarez, Nogales, Tia Juana and elsewhere.

The importance of rigid governmental control of the use of the Red Cross is well illustrated by the present condition in China where no official supervision of such use exists. Many different unauthorized organizations are using the emblem in the hope of protecting the lives and property of their members. Since no restrictions on this use are enforced, the result is that the emblem has lost its sacred character in a farcical and pathetic scramble for a protection which it cannot give. The following exact from a private letter from Wuchang, China, bears directly upon this point:

"All sorts of people are using the flag and the badge who have no right to do so and many seem to think that a subscription entitles them to full immunity and protection.
The Red Cross is so badly abused by misuse through people bringing their valuables to be stored under its aegis, that presently it is feared the whole population will hoist the sign at the last extremity as a last resort."

At the Ninth International Red Cross Conference, to be held in Washington next May, this omission of the Treaty of Geneva to provide for Red Cross operations in civil war will probably be one of the important topics for discussion. Representatives of forty or more countries will participate in this conference.

ASHAMED OF HER FACE

"I was ashamed of my face," writes
Miss Pickard of North Carolina. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema and that was three years ago."

This is but one of thousands of cases in which D. D. D. has simply washed away the skin trouble. D. D. D. cleanses the skin of the germs of Eczema, Psoriasis and other serious skin diseases; stops the itch instantly, and when used with D. D. D. soap the cures seem to be permanent. Nothing like D. D. D. for the complexion.

Trial bottle 25 cents, enough to prove the merit of this wonderful remedy.

We can also give you a full size bottle for $1.00 on our absolute guarantee that if this very first bottle fails to give you relief it will cost you nothing.

First LaGrippe, Then Bronchitis

That was the case with Mrs. W. S.
Bailey, McCreary, Ky. "My wife was taken down with a severe attack of lagrippe, which run into bronchitis.
She coughed as tho' she had consumption and could not sleep at night.
The first bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gave her so much relief that she continued using it until she was permanently cured." F. B.
Johnson & Co.

A Warning Against Wet Feet

Wet and chilled feet usually affect the mucous membrane of the nose, and lungs, and la grippe, bronchitis or pneumonia may result. Watch carefully, particularly the children, and for the racking stubborn coughs give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It soothes the inflamed membranes, and heals the cough quickly.
Take no substitute. F. B. Johnson &
Co.

How Cold Affects The Kidneys

Avoid taking cold if your kidneys are sensitive. Cold congests the kidneys, throws too much work upon them, and weakens their action. Serious kidney trouble and even Bright's disease may result. Strengthen your

CHILD WELFARE OBJECT SOUGHT

A New Governmental Bureau Is Established.

SENATOR BORAH'S BILL PASSED

This Provides For the Creation of a Bureau in Connection With Department of Commerce and Labor, Whose Purpose Shall Be the Investigation of Affairs Having to Do With the Betterment of Child Life.

Washington, Feb. 1.—By a vote of 54 to 20, the bill introduced by Senator Borah of Idaho, providing for the establishment of a children's bureau in the department of commerce and labor was passed by the senate. The bill was changed in one important particular. This was an amendment by Senator Culberson of Texas, providing that the agents of the bureau shall not enter any house "used exclusively as a residence" over the objection of the head of the family.

The bill provides for the appointment by the president subject to the senate's confirmation of a chief who shall be in charge of the children's bureau at a salary of $5,000 per year.
Provision is also made for an assistant chief and such clerks as may be necessary to carry on the work. The total appropriation amounts to a little more than $25,000 per annum. The bureau shall investigate and report on all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life and shall especially investigate the question of infant mortality, the birth rate, juvenile courts, desertion, dangerous occupations, accidents and diseases of children, especially legislation regarding children in the several states and territories.

The bill as originally proposed, provided that the bureau might from time to time publish the results of its investigations. The senate adopted an amendment by Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, providing that details of the investigation shall not be published in these reports.

The passage of the bill marked the conclusion of a spirited debate extending over three days, the opposition being based chiefly on constitutional grounds.

TURBULENT MEXICANS

Residents of Juarez Again Sought Safety on This Side.

Mexico City, Feb. 1.—Three hundred dead is close to the figure of the casualties attending the fighting in the vicinity of Cuernavaca in the past few days between federals and Zapatista rebels.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 1.—Some of the troops remained loyal when a part of the garrison of Maderista soldiers in Juarez revolted and liberated the prisoners in the city jail and attempted to capture those in rebellion, and a battle followed in the street. Juarez residents commenced to flee to El Paso, and all business houses there were closed.

The mutineers imprisoned their colonel, Augustin Estrada, close friend of Madero, and also locked the chief of police in the jail. This was their first act. Their next act was to declare Captain Martinez their leader, to seize all the arms and ammunition in Juarez and to send men south to blow up the railroad tracks between them and Chihuahua and Mexico City.

Several stores were broken open by the mutineers, and every cartridge, rifle and pistol in sight was taken.
During their progress through the streets the mutineers shot up several stores. As far as known only one man was wounded, although the shooting was promiscuous and several hundred shots were fired.

Several Americans Captured.

Mexico City, Feb. 1.—A band of Za-patistas captured a train bound for Cuernavaca, at a point not far from this city. It is supposed that the passengers on the train are prisoners of the bandits. Among the persons on the train were several Americans.

Another Georgia Lynching.

Cordele, Ga., Feb. 1.—A mob of 500 men stormed the jail where Albert Hamilton, the negro assailant of a white girl, was confined, and hanged him to a tree. Troops ordered here failed to arrive in time to save the negro's life.

Danderine

Grows hair and we can prove it

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Beautiful Immediately
After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching
Scalp and Dandruff

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair—No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundant; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Try as you will after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it, if you will just try a little Danderine. Real surprise awaits you.

We are authorized to announce the name of Ezekiel M. Jones of Ripley township as a candidate for sheriff, subject to the decision of the Republican nominating convention.

COMMISSIONER NORTHERN DISTRICT.

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Earl H. Sears for commissioner of the northern district, subject to the decision of the county Republican nominating convention.

We are authorized to announce the name of John T. Bowles of Center township for commissioner of the northern district, subject to the decision of the county Republican nominating convention.

Governor Harmon has pardoned a chicken thief. What can Marshall do to offset that? asks the Newcastle Courier.

Congressmen who are anxious for a nice summer trip begin to prick up their ears when this international commission on the cost of living is mentioned.

W. R. Hearst has engaged eighteen rooms for the Democratic national convention. As he can go to bed in but one at a time, this is just seven-teen too many.

They are talking of putting a children's bureau into the department of commerce and labor. We hope Mr. Taft looks into it occasionally and makes the children keep their toys and underclothes in order.

"Sixth is split," says the Indianapolis Sun, referring to the Republicans in this district, and it knows this to be a palpable absurdity. A more harmonious convention never passed in the history of politics, which is verified by all news dispatches with the exception of those in the Sun, and which will be testified to by anyone in attendance. The chief occupation of the Sun has been to disrupt the Republican party, and so long as it poses as a Republican paper, it will influence some people. The sooner it is discredited by thinking people, the better it will be for the Republican party.

Business peace depends upon the renomination of President Taft, as sets the Logansport Journal. If the president shall be renominated, business will go on. In fact, business will improve. If any other man shall be chosen, the business affairs of the country will be up in the air, so to speak. Every man who has made investments, depending upon future business would like to have business peace. He would like to have a show to earn money. His interest will be served by the renomination of the president. Every man who has stock on the farm which he is preparing for the spring sale would be helped by the renomination of the president, because such renomination would mean that there were to be no political revolutions. Let it be known that opposition to Taft is at an end and the business of every man in the entire country would increase.

The movement is again taking shape at Washington for an inauguration day to come at a time that shall be reasonably safe from blizzard weather.

Elsewhere it is of very little importance whether the inauguration takes place in a snow storm or a summer thunder shower. If a lot of our statesmen by standing around bareheaded in cold weather, contract pneumonia, the conditions are bad. But all the public necessities of the case could be met by having the exercise take place inside a building. In most of the States the inaugurations take place about January 1, which permits the new officers to get about their work promptly.

The present arrangement by which Congress does not meet unless called for a special session, until thirteen months after it is elected, did very well for a time when travelling was by stage coach and when the business could be handled in a six weeks' session. Whatever is done about inauguration day, the time is probably not far distant when it will become the regular custom to assemble congress early in the spring. If that were done, there would be less objection to complying with Washington's desire for a grand outdoor picnic to begin the new term.

Editorialettes.

Cold wave is coming! That will not freeze up the groundhog's hole we hope.

This little piece of piffle is to reflect the idea if possible—or reflect, if possible, the idea—that winter soon will have gone or that winter will soon have gone or that winter will soon be your own way.

The potato crop having failed, householders are urged to eat rice. This is especially timely for newly wedded couples who doubtless have a supply from the offerings made at their wedding.

Deliver us! We are again afflicted with the daffydil artists. Quoth one Rushville joker: If a crane were the doctor in animal land would his bill make the frog croak?

Quoth another: If the orchestra went on a strike would a drum stick? No, verily no, for the drums would beat it.

The question has been raised here: Are after-dinner speeches termed toasts because they are dry?

A $15,000 sable coat was stolen from a New York woman last week. The times must be hard if it costs that much to be warm.

THE GROUNDHOG.

We have often wondered why is a groundhog and here you are: "The groundhog is a rodent or gnawing animal and belongs to the marmot family, along with the prairie dog, which is more a dog than a groundhog is a hog. Late in the fall the groundhog enters its burrows and falls into a deep sleep. Its period of hibernating lasts until early spring and thereby hangs a tale. For here we have the foundation of the orthodox groundhog weather test, which is as follows: The animal emerges from its winter retreat on Candlemas day, February 2, and after yawning a little and stretching its legs, it casts its weather eye about it. If it sees its shadow that is if the sun shines at all on that day, it straightway goes back into its den and six weeks of cold weather follows. By cold weather is meant that the temperature will be lower than normal for that period. On the other hand, it remains on the surface if the sky is overcast all day and it sees no shadow. By that same token six weeks, at least, of warmer weather than the season average is indicated."

ARGUMENT AS TO GROUNDHOG DAY

Some Claim Animal Will Make Appearance Today and Others Say Tomorrow.

ALSO ANOTHER DATE CLAIMED

The same old argument comes up in regard to the date of Groundhog day, most of the people who claim that "they are correct," say that Groundhog day is on February 2, while a few claim that the groundhog always comes out of his hole on the 1st, and if he sees his shadow, crawls into his hole for another six weeks, which means six weeks of cold weather. There is still another date claimed, and that is February 21, which is Ash Wednesday. Very few people, however, pay any attention to the latter date along with the groundhog. On groundhog day, if the animal fails to see his shadow he will remain out and that is to mean that winter is over and spring has arrived.

The days are growing much longer, this being very noticeable. The sun rose this morning at 7:12 o'clock and will set at 5:22 o'clock which makes a day of ten hours and ten minutes.

PLANNING FOR DISTRICT RALLY

Local Knights of Pythias Anticipate Convention to be Held in Richmond Feb. 20.

THE PROGRAM IS INCOMPLETE

Between Two and Three Hundred Delegates Are Expected to Attend.

Local Knights of Pythias are anticipating a great time at the district convention of the lodge which will be held this year at Richmond. A large Rushville delegation will attend. Preparations are already being made as is evidenced by the following from the Richmond Palladium:

Arrangements for the district meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge are being perfected by a committee from the local lodges and from present indications the meeting will be one of the best ever held. The meeting will be held at the Pythian Temple on South Eighth street, Tuesday, February 20.

Every lodge in the district, which is composed of the counties of Wayne, Randolph, Henry, Franklin, Fayette, Union and Rush, will be represented at the meeting and they will be no doubt accompanied by a large number of visitors. A number of higher officers of the Indiana Uniform Rank are also expected to be present, as well as the State officers of the lodge.

Charles W. Jordan, secretary of the Commercial club, will deliver the address, welcoming the visitors, William A. Bond will preside at the business meeting. Harry Wade of Indianapolis, grand keeper of records and seals, and the grand chancellor of the State, and deputy grand chancellor, will be present, all of whom are expected to make short talks. The entire program however, is as yet, incomplete.

The afternoon meeting will be open to the public, although the evening meeting will be private. It is probable a quartet and orchestra will provide music for the afternoon.

WAS AN ACTIVE CITIZEN

William P. Long Voted For John C. Fremont in 1856.

William P. Long of Noble township, whose funeral was held in Indianapolis today, passed through 86 active years. Born and reared as a farmer he moved to Marion county at the age of 20 and located near Clermont. He had been an elder in the Christian church at Clermont for fifty-six years. At various times he served as assessor and trustee of Pike township, and was one of the few in that township to join the Republican party and vote for John C. Fremont in 1856. He was a captain of the civil war. He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

ATTORNEY GENERAL ASKED TO DECIDE

Can Person be Prevented From Building Livery Stable Within 500 Feet of School House?

QUESTION UP AT NEW SALEM

Whether the law preventing the construction of a school building within five hundred feet of a livery stable can be construed to prevent the construction of a site selected for a school building for which bids have been asked, is a question the State board of health has submitted to the attorney-general. The question came from New Salem, where bids have been asked for a new school house to replace one condemned by the State board. After bids were advertised for the building the owner of the lot, within five hundred feet of the site asked for bids for the construction of a stable.

Bids were submitted once for the New Salem building, but they were all turned down because they exceeded the appropriation made by the Noble township advisory board.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have as a feature tonight, "The Last of the Mohicans" taken from the story of the same name by J. Fenimore Cooper. The other picture is a great comedy, "Foolishhead, Manikin." Tomorrow night the attraction will be "Cinderella," the great Thanhouser production of the famous fairy story. "Cinderella" is perhaps the best known of all fairy tales and is told in complete detail in this picture, even to the changing of the lizards to horses, the pumpkins to a coach and other transitions. The production is said to be marvelous and beautifully staged. The picture will be shown one night only.

The Princess offers as the first picture tonight a Kalem drama, "How Texas Got Left." "The Bo' Sun's Watch" is an Edison comedy. Tomorrow night, "The Football Hero" a picture telling and showing a football game will be shown. In this picture the hero wins the game by a drop kick and the ball is seen to sail between the goal posts. A benefit will be given for the Rushville band next Wednesday and Thursday nights.

The second of the benefit shows for the Ladies Auxiliary to the A. O. H. will be given at the Portola tonight. An entire change of program will be given. Special music will be given including the trio which sang last night. By request Mrs. Houck will sing "Blanket Bay." The pictures are an Edison "Home," a Lubin, "A Blind Deception" and a Selig, "The Convert of San Clemente." Tomorrow night the second Emanon club benefit for Miss Curtis Lore will be given. It is hoped to make this one as successful as the first, which was given last Friday night.

$10 For Your Reason Why

In the past year the sale of "Clark's Purity" Flour has more than doubled in Rush County. We can readily see the reason of this increase, but we want the ladies of Rush County to tell us their reason why. For the best three reasons why "Clark's Purity" Flour is more widely used by Rush County women, we will give $5.00 first; $3.00 second and $2.00 third, prizes to be awarded by three disinterested judges to be selected later. The contest will close March 1st, 1912. All you have to do is clip the coupon from our ad in another part of this paper and have your grocer sign it, then enclose it in an envelope to us with your reason why.

They went up two floors. Here, the stairs and corridors were almost deserted. The black domino opened the door of a private box and beckoned to the white domino to follow her. Then Christine, whom he recognized by the sound of her voice, closed the door behind them and warned him, in a whisper, to remain at the back of the box and on no account to show himself. Raoul took off his mask. Christine kept hers on. And, when Raoul was about to ask her to remove it, he was surprised to see her put her ear to the partition and listen eagerly for a sound outside. Then she opened the door ajar, looked out into the corridor and, in a low voice, said:

"He must have gone up higher." Suddenly she exclaimed: "He is coming down again!" She tried to close the door, but Raoul prevented her; for he had seen, on the top step of the staircase that led to the floor above, a red foot, followed by another . . . and slowly, majestically, the whole scarlet dress of Red Death met his eyes. And he once more saw the death's head of Perros-Guirec.

"It's he," he exclaimed. "This time, he shall not escape me!"

But Christine had slammed the door at the moment when Raoul was on the point of rushing out. He tried to push her aside.

"Whom do you mean by 'he'?" she asked, in a changed voice. "Who shall not escape you?"

Raoul tried to overcome the girl's resistance by force, but she repelled him with a strength which he would not have suspected in her. He understood, or thought he understood, and at once lost his temper.

"Who?" he repeated angrily. "Why, he, the man who hides behind that hideous mask of death! . . . The evil genius of the churchyard at Perros! . . . Red Death! . . . In a word, madam, your friend . . . your Angel of Music! . . . But I shall snatch off his mask, as I shall snatch off my own; and, this time, we shall look each other in the face, he and I, with no veil and no lies between us; and I shall know whom you love and who loves you!"

He burst into a mad laugh, while Christine gave a disconsolate moan behind her velvet mask. With a tragic gesture, she flung out her two arms, which fixed a barrier of white flesh against the door.

"In the name of our love, Raoul, you shall not pass!"

He stopped. What had she said? . . . In the name of their love? . . . Never before had she confessed that she loved him. And yet she had had opportunities enough. . . . Pooch, her only object was to gain a few seconds! . . . She wished to give the Red Death time to escape. . . . And, in accents of childish hatred, he said:

"You lie, madam, for you do not love me and you have never loved me! What a poor fellow I must be to let you mock and flout me as you have done! Why did you give me every reason for hope, at Perros . . . for honest hope, madam, for I am an honest man and I believed you to be an honest woman, when your only intention was to deceive me! Alas, you have deceived us all! You have taken a shameful advantage of the candid affection of your benefactress herself, who continues to believe in your sincerity while you go about the opera hall with Red Death! . . . I deceive you!"

And he burst into tears. She allowed him to insult her. She thought of but one thing, to keep him from leaving the box.

"You will beg my pardon, one day, for all those ugly words, Raoul, and when you do I shall forgive you!"

He shook his head. "No, no, you have driven me mad! When I think that I had only one object in life: to give my name to an opera wench!"

"Raoul! . . . How can you?"

"I shall die of shame!"

"No, dear, live!" said Christine's grave and changed voice. "And . . . good-by. Good-by, Raoul!"

The boy stepped forward, staggering as he went. He risked one more sarcasm:

"Oh, you must let me come and applaud you from time to time!"

"I shall never sing again, Raoul!"

"Really?" he replied, still more satirically. "So he is taking you off the stage; I congratulate you! . . . But we shall meet in the Bois, one of these evenings!"

"Not in the Bois nor anywhere, Raoul; you shall not see me again."

"May one ask at least to what darkness you are returning? . . . For what hell are you leaving, mysterious lady . . . or for what paradise?"

"I came to tell you, dear, but I can't tell you now . . . you would not believe me! You have lost faith in me, Raoul; it is finished!"

She spoke in such a despairing voice that the lad began to feel remorse for his cruelty. "But look here!" he cried. "Can't you tell me what all this means! . . . You are free, there is no one to interfere with you. . . . You go about Paris. . . . You put on a domino to come to the ball. . . . Why do you not go home? . . . What have you been doing this past fortnight? . . . What is this tale about the Angel of Music, which you have been telling Mamma Valerius? Some one may have taken you in, played upon your innocence. I was a witness of it myself, at Perros . . . but you know what to believe now! You seem to me quite sensible, Christine. You know what you are doing . . . And meanwhile Mamma Valerius lies waiting for you at home and appealing to your 'good genius!' . . . Explain yourself, Christine, I beg of you! Any one might have been deceived as I was. What is this farce?"

Christine simply took off her mask and said: "Dear, it is a tragedy!"

Raoul now saw her face and could not restrain an exclamation of surprise and terror. The fresh complexion of former days was gone. A mortal pallor covered those features, which he had known so charming and so gentle, and sorrow had furrowed them with pitiless lines and traced dark and unspeakably sad shadows under her eyes.

"My dearest! My dearest!" he moaned, holding out his arms. "You promised to forgive me . . ."

"Perhaps!" she said, resuming her mask; and she went away, forbidding him, with a gesture, to follow her.

He tried to disobey her; but she turned round and repeated her gesture of farewell with such authority that he dared not move a step.

He watched her till she was out of sight. Then he also went down among the crowd, hardly knowing what he was doing, with throbbing temples and an aching heart; and, as he crossed the dancing-floor, he asked if anybody had seen Red Death. Yes, every one had seen Red Death; but Raoul could not find him; and, at two o'clock in the morning, he turned down the passage, behind the scenes, that led to Christine Daae's dressing-room.

His footsteps took him to that room where he had first known suffering. He tapped at the door. There was no answer. He entered, as he had entered when he looked everywhere for "the man's voice." The room was empty. A gas-jet was burning, turned down low. He saw some writing-paper on a little desk. He thought of writing to Christine, but he heard steps in the passage. He had only time to hide in the inner room, which was separated from the dressing-room by a curtain.

Christine entered, took off her mask with a weary movement and flung it on the table. She sighed and let her pretty head fall into her two hands. What was she thinking of? Of Raoul? No, for Raoul heard her murmur: "Poor Erik!"

At first, he thought he must be mistaken. To begin with, he was persuaded that, if any one was to be pitied, it was he, Raoul. It would have been quite natural if she had said, "Poor Raoul," after what had happened between them. But, shaking her head, she repeated, "Poor Erik!"

What had this Erik to do with Christine's sighs and why was she pitying Erik when Raoul was so unhappy?

Christine began to write, deliberately, calmly and so placidly that Raoul, who was still trembling from the effects of the tragedy that separated them, was painfully impressed.

"What coyness!" he said to himself.

She wrote on, filling two, three, four sheets. Suddenly, she raised her head and hid the sheets in her bodice. . . . She seemed to be listening. . . . Raoul also listened. . . . Whence came that strange sound, that distant rhythm? . . . A faint singing seemed to issue from the walls. . . . Yes, it was as though the walls themselves were singing! . . . The song became plainer . . . he heard a voice, a very beautiful, very soft, very captivating voice . . . but, for all its softness, it remained a male voice. . . . The voice came nearer and nearer . . . it came through the wall . . . it approached . . . and now the voice was in the room, in front of Christine. Christine rose and addressed the voice, as though speaking to some one:

"Here I am, Erik," she said. "I am ready. But you are late."

Raoul, peeping from behind the curtain, could not believe his eyes, which showed him nothing. Christine's face lit up. A smile of happiness appeared upon her bloodless lips.

The voice without a body went on singing; and certainly Raoul had never in his life heard anything more absolutely and heroically sweet, more gloriously insidious, more delicate, more powerful, in short, more irresistibly triumphant. He listened to it in a fever and he now began to understand how Christine Daae was able to appear one evening, before the stupefied audience, with accents of a beauty hitherto unknown, of a superhuman exaltation, while doubtless still under the influence of the mysterious and invisible master.

The voice was singing the Wedding-night Song from Romeo and Juliet. Raoul saw Christine stretch out her arms to the voice as she had done, in Perros churchyard, to the invisible violin playing The Resurrection of Lazarus. And nothing could describe the passion with which the voice sang:

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

The strains went through Raoul's heart. Struggling against the charm that seemed to deprive him of all his will and all his energy and of almost all his lucidity at the moment when he needed them most, he succeeded in drawing back the curtain that hid him and he walked to where Christine stood. She herself was moving to the back of the room, the whole wall of that reflected her image, but not his, for he was just behind her and entirely covered by her.

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

Christine walked toward her image in the glass and the image came toward her. The two Christines—the real one and the reflection—ended by touching; and Raoul put out his arms to clasp the two in one embrace. But, by a sort of dazzling miracle that sent him staggering, Raoul was suddenly flung back, while an icy blast swept over his face; he saw, not two, but four, eight, twenty Christines spinning round him, laughing at him and fleeing so swiftly that he could not touch one of them. At last, everything stood still again; and he saw himself in the glass. But Christine had disappeared.

He rushed up to the glass. He struck at the walls. Nobody! And meanwhile the room still echoed with a distant passionate singing:

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

Which way, which way had Christine gone? . . . Which way would she return?

Would she return? Alas, had she not declared to him that everything was finished? And was the voice not repeating:

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

To me? To whom?

Then, worn out, beaten, empty-brained, he sat down on the chair which Christine had just left. Like her, he let his head fall into his hands. When he raised it, the tears were streaming down his young cheeks, real, heavy tears like those which jealous children shed, tears that wept for a sorrow which was in no way

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

"Fate links thee to me for ever and a day!"

tent which perhaps you will one day understand. I do not deny that my surprise equals my pleasure at finding you with your adopted mother and that, after what happened between us yesterday, after what you said and what I was able to guess, I hardly expected to see you here so soon. I should be the first to delight at your return, if you were not so bent on preserving a secrecy that may be fatal to you . . . and I have been your friend too long not to be alarmed, with Mme. Valerius, at a disastrous adventure which will remain dangerous so long as we have not unraveled its threads and of which you will certainly end by being the victim, Christine."

At these words, Mamma Valerius tossed about in her bed.

"What does this mean?" she cried. "Is Christine in danger?"

"Yes, madame," said Raoul courageously, notwithstanding the signs which Christine made to him.

"My God!" exclaimed the good, simple old woman, gasping for breath. "You must tell me everything, Christine! Why did you try to reassure me? And what danger is it, M. de Chagny?"

"An impostor is abusing her good faith."

"Is the Angel of Music an impostor?"

"She told you herself that there is no Angel of Music."

"But then what is it, in heaven's name? You will be the death of me!"

"There is a terrible mystery around us, madame, around you, around Christine, a mystery much more to be feared than any number of ghosts or geni!"

Mamma Valerius turned a terrified face to Christine, who had already run to her adopted mother and was holding her in her arms.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

NOT LIMITED TO THE OVEN.

By Martha McCulloch Williams.

All my life I have been a sort of domestic pioneer, cutting cross lots of tradition and usage, sometimes it must be confessed, to my own loss, and trouble, other times with the happy result of finding out new and easier ways. So after a month of paper-bag cooking I asked myself if I had sounded its whole possibilities? There was no definite answer possible—so I took counsel with myself.

All about me I knew there were folk, singly or in pairs, who liked hot food, fresh, yet hated left-overs, who had further great need to watch the pennies. It seemed wasteful for them either to heat a whole big oven to cook a scrap of dinner, or cook an ovenful rather than waste heat. Further, there were ovenless folk—those with kitchenettes only, or portable two ring stoves, but in commission at need, then whisked out of sight. Could paper bag cooking be made useful to them? I was going to find out—in their behalf, and no less my own.

So, upon a Saturday afternoon, I set myself to see if I could solve the problem without sin against either ease or economy.

Looking through my pot closet, I found a cast iron skillet, not over big, nor small, and about three inches deep. I found also a deepish round iron pan just fitting the skillet-top.

Placing one upon the other there was a space of almost five inches between them, top and bottom. Having found them I went out and bought a wire trivet. I bought also an exact pound of finely chopped meat—fourteen ounces lean veal, with two ounces of suet. This I shaped into an oval flatish cake, salted and peppered it well all over the outside, then floured it liberally, and overlaid the top with thinly sliced mild onion, thickly sliced peeled tomatoes and sundry lumps of well-floured butter. Next I put it in a paper bag—the biggest my skillet would take, pinned in the corners of the bag after sealing it, and laid it on the trivet which had been set in the skillet before it was put, covered, over a gas ring on top the stove.

The skillet was sizzling hot—so hot that a smell of scorching came forth in about four minutes. That was the signal to turn down the heat more than half. Because I want my veal always as well done as possible, because I knew the tomatoes would prevent any possible drying out, I left my bag cooking forty-five minutes, meantime getting ready salad, fruit, and setting my table.

I have in my time eaten much meat and good meat, but never any better.

Therefore, know, all ye ovenless, you can cook in paper bags thus by help of a skillet and cover—indeed, of any sound iron vessel.

LIABILITY OF AN EMPLOYER

Question Involved In This Supreme Court Ruling.

THE LOWER COURT IS REVERSED

Judgment Secured by a Motorman For Injuries Received in a Wreck Due to No Fault of His Own Is Set Aside as Not Being a Proper Common Law Liability Against the Employing Company.

Indianapolis, Feb. 1.—For granting Joseph E. Matthews of Indianapolis a judgment for $7,750 damages against the Indianapolis Traction and Terminal company, the supreme court has reversed the Hamilton circuit court.

Matthews was employed as a motorman on the West Washington street car line and on the morning of Nov. 7, 1908, ran into an interurban car which had been moved out of the shops on the West Washington street tracks.

It was a foggy morning and the streetcar was so close upon the interurban when seen that a collision could not be avoided and the interurban car being the higher, cut over the floor line of the streetcar and caught the motorman and severely injured him.

As the case would have been hard to bring within any of the existing statutes regarding the duties of masters to servants, suit was brought on the common law liability and the lower court held the complaint good and the action well founded.

The supreme court holds that the trial court erred in holding the complaint good at common law for the reason that it does not allege the violations of the duties of the master, but shows that the injury was the result of the failure of a fellow-servant to perform his duties. In regard to the common law liability the court says:

"While an employer is bound to exercise ordinary care to furnish a safe place to work and to exercise ordinary care to keep it in that condition, he is not liable to his employee for the negligence of his co-employees in respect to the details of the work, nor is he bound to protect his employees against the mere transitory perils that the execution of the work occasions, nor is he liable merely because a fellow-employee negligently handles or uses appliances or tools or negligently fails to use the same or negligently operates machinery or a car or cars in such a way as to occasion injury to other employees."

The court also holds that the complaint fails to show that Matthews did not assume the risk of the accident as it is set out in the complaint.

URGENT PLEA

Made For the Proper Care of Insane Persons in County Charge.

Indianapolis, Feb. 1.—In a statement issued from the board of state charities a plea is made for the release of insane persons from county jails and for their confinement in state hospitals for the insane as rapidly as room can be provided. That many persons held in close confinement in the county asylum and there classed as dangerous would respond to the scientific care they could receive in the state hospitals is the belief of the board. In the statement it is set out that the care given insane persons in a county asylum is too frequently no more than that of the "madhouse," made notorious through literature and disclosures in the past, and the equipment, it is said, is often no better. On Aug. 31, 1911, there were about 300 insane persons in this class of public institutions.

DOCTORS PUZZLED

Evansville Man's Strange Malady Beyond Their Ken.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 1.—William Gentry, aged fifty, living at 904 Upper Fourth street, this city, is suffering from a strange malady which has baffled physicians for several weeks. Mr. Gentry became sick before Christmas and has since been confined to his bed. A few days ago he lost the control of his arms. Next he lost control of his tongue and jaws. For the last two days it has been necessary for Gentry's wife to feed him. Gentry's tongue is swollen twice its normal size. He craves food and before his jaws became set he was unable to satisfy his abnormal appetite and continuously asked for more to eat.

Convicted of Whitecapping.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 1.—Tobe Snoddy was found guilty of having been a member of a gang of fifteen men that whitecapped Harvey McFarland, a farmer of VanBuren township, at midnight on May 4, 1911, and may serve a term of from two to ten years in the state prison, although sentence has not been passed, awaiting motions for an appeal to the supreme court.

Chief of Boy Scouts Coming.

Indianapolis, Feb. 1.—Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, has accepted an invitation to go to Culver military academy on Feb. 7 to attend a reception to be given by the academy authorities in honor of Lieutenant General Baden Powell of the British army, founder of the Boy Scout movement.

JOSEPH B. KEALING

Mr. Taft's Agent in Indiana
Sends Word to President.

Washington, Feb. 1.—President Taft has received a telegram from J. B. Kealing, former United States district attorney at Indianapolis, saying that in the district conventions held in Indiana yesterday to elect new members of the state committee, the Taft forces were successful, electing all of the thirteen new members.

NOT GOING TO LET GO OF PALMYRA ISLAND

England Will Be Warned to Keep Hands Off.

Washington, Feb. 1.—In its assumption that the island of Palmyra belongs to this country, the United States government will stand pat. The state department does not now consider there is any controversy regarding the sovereignty of this group of Pacific islands, and has no official knowledge to confirm the reports that England is about to seize the territory. Should England take this step it is understood it will receive an inquiry from the state department, which takes the view that the proclamation of annexation by a former king of Hawaii settled the status of the Palmyra group as Hawaiian territory, and that it became an American possession on the acquisition of Hawaii by the United States. The act of congress annexing Hawaii did not mention Palmyra island as one of those to be included in the group taken over by this government, but the report of the congressional committee which visited Hawaii soon after does specify Palmyra island as one of the Hawaiian group becoming American territory.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER

The Verdict Returned by Jury in Allison MacFarland's Case.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 1.—The jury in the case of Allison MacFarland brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree after a deliberation of more than twelve hours. As MacFarland, shackled to the court constable, was led from the room he smiled. He showed no trace of emotion. The jury filed out and Justice Gummars sat at the bench as though dazed. It was several minutes before he left his seat and the few spectators in the courtroom were permitted to leave.

Allison MacFarland was found guilty of causing the death of his wife Evelyn, who drank cyanide of potassium on the night of Oct. 17. MacFarland admitted that he had brought the poison to the house and had placed it in a bromide bottle. The jury found that he did so with intent to cause her death, it having been shown that the woman was accustomed to taking headache medicine from the bottle. The prosecution claimed that MacFarland's infatuation for a Philadelphia woman named in the case as Florence Bromley, furnished the motive. After hearing the verdict he was remanded to jail to await sentence of death.

SMITH IS OUT

Indiana Man Had Been Dousing Capitol Glim For Many Years.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Every night for the last fourteen years an Indiana man has put out the lights and locked up the capitol. After today the responsible task will fall to someone else, because the rules committee has seen fit to notify Samuel Smith of Veedersburg that his services as a member of the capitol police force will no longer be needed. Policeman Smith was appointed to his position in Washington by former Senator Hemenway in 1898. A good part of the time he has been detailed to plain-clothes duty about the capitol. He loses his place by reason of the fact that Indiana is no longer represented in the senate by a Republican.

They Resented Criticism.

Weldon, Ill., Feb. 1.—Because the Rev. F. L. Buck of Bloomington, at a revival service here, criticised the conduct of three young men, they waylaid him and attacked him after the meeting. Warrants are out for the assailants.

LED TO SHARP CONTROVERSIES

Billie Burns Doesn't Make a Hit With Senators.

TALKED LIKE A GATTLING GUN

Called Before the Senate Committee Which is Investigating the Lorimer Case, Famous Detective's Defiant Manner Created Antagonisms Which Led to Several Clashes Before He Had Concluded His Testimony.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The Lorimer investigating committee has been furnished by William J. Burns, the detective who ran down the McNamara dynamite conspiracy, with evidence tending to show that Charles McGowan of Elora, Canada, a witness produced by the Lorimer side, had admitted he was paid by the "Hines crowd" to testify for Lorimer; that he had a hard time getting his money; that he did not get as much as he had expected, and that he finally made them "come across" by a threat of exposure. A letter alleged to have been written by McGowan, who is the son of a well-to-do Canadian business man, was read before the committee in support of Burns' charges. Detective Burns promised he would supply evidence through other witnesses, his assistants, who went to Toronto and "trapped" McGowan, that the Canadian admitted he had testified falsely.

Burns and Judge Haney, Lorimer's counsel, repeatedly clashed and once or twice it looked as if they would resort to blows. Both were rebuked by the committee.

"If you don't stop this line of questioning, I will," Burns shouted to Chairman Dillingham, at the same time glaring at Lorimer's lawyer. Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee accused Judge Haney of being unfair, and Haney resented it. Senator Fletcher hotly sided with the Lorimer attorney, and then Fletcher and Lea had a sharp controversy.

McGowan got into the Lorimer case in a remarkable way. One Burgess, a witness introduced by counsel for the Lorimer committee, testified that while traveling on the Winnipeg flyer from Duluth to Virginia City, Minn., he heard C. F. Weihe, a brother-in-law of Edward Hines, the lumber merchant, who has figured in the case as the man who is alleged to have raised $100,000 to "put Lorimer across," boast that he had contributed $10,000 to this fund. Burgess testified that among the other passengers on the train who heard the conversation was a young Canadian, name unknown, who was journeying to Canada.

Later the Lorimer people, realizing that this testimony was perhaps vital as tending to corroborate other statements that the Hines fund of $100,000 really had existed, sought out and produced this unidentified Canadian in the person of young McGowan.

McGowan denied that the conversation in the smoking compartment of the Winnipeg flyer to which Burgess had testified, had occurred. Then the anti-Lorimer people started after McGowan. First the counsel for the committee hired the Burns agency, but results proving unsatisfactory, the committee dropped the detectives, whereupon the Chicago Tribune hired Burns and his sleuths to go to Canada, which they did, and now claim to have secured admissions from McGowan thoroughly discrediting his testimony.

Burns was an object of attack for Lorimer's counsel almost from the moment of his appearance on the stand. The detective was nervous and talked like a Gatling gun, almost defiant in his answers.

DIDN'T COUNT COST

House Uses $90,000 Worth of Time on a $15,000 Deal.

Washington, Feb. 1.—The house passed a $15,000 bridge bill last night after using up $90,000 worth of time discussing it. For three successive calendar Wednesdays a measure obligating the federal government for one-third of the cost of rebuilding a $50,000 bridge across the Weymouth river in Massachusetts, has been before the house. Last night it went through, but not until Representative Berger of Wisconsin, the Socialist member, had called attention to the fact that each day's session of the house cost the government $30,000. The principal objection to the measure came from members who insisted that the bill set a bad precedent in that it obligates the federal government to this sort of a proposition.

President Pleased With Outlook.

Akron, O., Feb. 1.—President Taft left here last night for Washington after a three-days' trip to his home state, in a contented frame of mind as to the political outlook in Ohio. During the last few days Mr. Taft has met many Ohio political leaders in Cleveland, Columbus and Akron, and they pledged him their hearty support in the coming presidential campaign.

Charles Babcock, wealthy wholesale grocer of Cincinnati, dropped dead at Los Angeles while visiting his daughter.

leader in the house, then introduced a resolution on the floor of the house in which it was stated the failure to place wool on the free list was not an abandonment of Democratic policy, but a tariff was necessary on account of the depleted condition of the U. S. treasury due to Republican extravagance. Mr. Watson read an extract then declared there was a surfeit copy of the resolution. Mr. Watson plus of forty-nine million dollars in the treasury at the close of the last Republican congress and that the resolution was a subterfuge and a falsehood.

"You hear of what a tariff law this is," continued the former representative, "but more than half—fifty-one per cent—of the imports entering this country are free from any tariff. More come in free now than did under any tariff law ever written. Do you want to return to times like those of 1893? You will if the Democratic party goes into power once more. I would like to show you how incompetent they are and yet because of petty differences the Republicans allowed them to gain control. I am opposed to that."

Mr. Watson devoted some time to the cotton bill and asserted that the Democratic house discriminated in reducing the tariff on this because cotton is raised in the South, a Democratic stronghold. He said a billion dollars is invested in the industry. He pointed out the Democratic house came to the conclusion in this regard that the more labor expended on a thing, the more tariff should be placed on it. Mr. Watson pointed out that was the policy of McKinley and Blaine and that of the highest protectionists. He denounced the Democrats for contriving to protect the cotton growers of the South and put free trade on the wool growers of the North.

"Northern Democratic congressmen must follow along like Mary's little lamb," asserted Mr. Watson. "He has no chance against the preponderance of Southern Democrats. Aside from having an importer of seeds there is no need for us having a congressman."

He declared the Democratic ways and means committee declined to hold a public hearing on the wool schedule, something which the same committee in a Republican house never did. He said this committee under Republican regime always held a tariff schedule for at least seven months and allowed all of the evidence possible to be introduced from all sources. He pointed out that the committee gave the whole chemical schedule of the cotton bill to one chemist and ordered him to reduce the specific duties to ad valorem and then cut them all 25 per cent. When the chemist made the report he admitted, Mr. Watson said, that much benefit could not be derived from it. The report of this one man was introduced on the floor of the house as an amendment to the tariff bill, something, Mr. Watson averred, without a precedent in a Republican house.

"Did they know anything about it when they started to make this tariff law over?" asked the former congressman. "And as long as they have such fellows in congress as ours how are we going to know anything about it?"

"Mr. Taft is to be commended," said Mr. Watson later. "Jumping from tobacco sauce to pork and beans was a rather hard come-down for some Republicans but the fare won't hurt you. Mr. Roosevelt made a great display. Mr. Taft has treaded his way along slowly but surely. His intentions have been good and he is patriotic to the bone. I have quarreled with him at time and have disagreed with him but in the main he has taken a faithful stand and stayed by it."

"The corporation tax passed during his administration has brought a great amount of revenue into the government. His enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law has been without fear or favor. All tremendous combinations of capital have been compelled to come before the bar of justice. It makes no difference to the President whether they be small or whether they be large. It is a question as to whether they are guilty of law violation."

"His administration is worthy of endorsement. What I want is harmony. Forget to be a factionalist and remember we are all Republicans. Do not forget some of the old things, take up with the new things only when you find they are worthy. The Republican party has always been a progressive party and unless you return it to power for the next four years you will sit on the sharp side of a rail and eat soup."

"Let's get together and redeem the State. I lost it four years ago. But don't tangle up the next fellow like you did me. If you don't like him stand by him anyway because he stands for your principles. There are too many political cowards nowadays. Whenever the time comes that I do not believe in the Republican party I am going to get out of it. Whoever you choose to represent you in the coming contest I will do all within my power and in my feeble way to elect him."

The convention was called to order at one o'clock by Elmer Bassett of Shelbyville, retiring chairman, who made a short talk. Mention of Taft's name by him was applauded. He urged county chairmen to work faithfully to the end that Taft have a Republican congress. James E. Watson was loudly acclaimed permanent chairman and cheers rent the air as he took the seat. E. F. Warfel of Richmond was made permanent secretary and T. I. Morgan of Greenfield and I. N. Bridgeman of Brookville were his assistants.

W. S. Montgomery of Greenfield, chairman of the committee of rules and order of business reported and this was followed by the report of the committee on credentials, made by the chairman, Linn C. Boyd of Newcastle. Will Hough of Greenfield, chairman of the resolutions committee read the resolutions which were unanimously adopted by the convention.

The following men represented Rush county on the various committees: John C. Blackledge, resolutions; R. F. Scudder, rules and order, and W. R. Jinnett of Manilla, credentials.
